

In this philosophic padam Annamaiah elucidates the ephemeral nature of our physical existence, stating that Lord Venkateswara alone, the master of the present and the transcendental worlds, is solace to all.

What is all this learning for? What is this entire search for? After all whether you open your eyes or close, it is all the same to the conscience.

1.To do or not to do is always a question. When there is dilemma conscience is the best guide. Involvement in worldly matters is bondage. Renouncing leads to salvation. Conscience is the supreme guide to the learned.

2.The physical and the transcendental worlds are equal to the soul. The mortal body is the target for life and death. Lord Venkatesa is by your side. He is the Lord of the present and transcendental worlds. He is the only refuge to the people that surrender.
