

In this lullaby, Mother Yasoda sings about the pranks of her beloved little Krishna.

jo Achyutananda, jo jo Mukunda. Come here Rama Govinda, the embodiment of Supreme happiness.

1.You reached Nanda's house wherein beautiful women are serving you. Your plays in their house are lovely. Some call you a thief but you are our dear Ranga.

2.You recline beautifully on milk-ocean. Even as boy you assured protection to sages. You were born to Vasudeva gloriously. Oh Gopala, as a boy you tended cows.

3.Talla paka Annamaiah tells this beautiful lullaby, which will yield prosperity abundantly.
Oh Madana Gopala, we pray for your auspiciousness.
